GREAT DISASTERS.

The terrible calamity in the Conemaugh valley by which thousands of lives have been lost, brings to mind some of the great disasters that are prom nt in history. More lives have been lost by earthquakes than by any other agency, except, of course, that of disease. It will be interesting to note the time and places of the most destructive of earthquakes, and the number of lives lost:

| Places. | Lives Lost. | A. D. |
|---|---|---|
| Catania, Sicily | 15,000 | 1137 |
| Cilicia | 60,000 | 1268 |
| Naples | 40,000 | 1456 |
| Lisbon | 30,000 | 1531 |
| Naples | 70,000 | 1626 |
| Schamiaki, Russia | 80,000 | 1667 |
| Sicily | 100,000 | 1693 |
| Jeddo, Japan | 200,000 | 1703 |
| Abruzzi, Italy | 15,000 | 1706 |
| Algiers | 20,000 | 1716 |
| China, including Pekin | 100,000 | 1731 |
| Lima and Callao, Peru | 18,000 | 1746 |
| Grand Cairo | 40,000 | 1752 |
| Kaschan, Persia | 40,000 | 1755 |
| Lisbon | 40,000 | 1755 |
| Syria | 20,000 | 1759 |
| Mexico | 40,000 | 1797 |
| Aleppo, Turkey | 20,000 | 1822 |
| South Italy | 14,000 | 1851 |
| Peru and Ecuador | 25,000 | 1868 |
| Java | 150,000 | 1882 |

It would be impossible to give a correct record of the lives lost by the great floods of the world, but the following are the most remarkable: In 738 the flood at Glasgow drowned more than 400 families; in 1446 the sea broke in at Dart, and drowned 72 villages, and destroying 100,000 people; in 1483 the Severn overflowed during ten days, and caused the loss of thousands of lives; in 1630 a general inundation was caused by the failure of the dikes in Holland, the loss of life was estimated at 400,000; at Catalonia, in 1617, 50,000 perished by floods; in Navarre 2000 persons were drowned in 1787 by torrents from the mountains; in 1811 the overflowing of the Danube 24 villages were wiped out of existence; in Silesia, in 1813, over 6,000 persons perished by floods, and in the same year 4,000 in Poland; in 1829 the awful flood at Dantzic: caused by the breaking of dikes, carried away 10,000 cattle, 4,000 horses, and destroyed hundreds of lives; in 1840 there were terrible floods in France. The banks of the Saone and the Rhone gave way and 60,000 acres of land were submerged, carrying away hundreds of houses.

Coming down to more recent times and noting the disasterous floods in our own country we find that the reservoir at Mill River, Massachusetts, burst on the 16 of May, 1884, and 150 lives were lost. The floods in Western Pennsylvania in the same year drowned 220 persons. The reservoir at Worcester, Massachusetts, broke on the 30th of March, 1876, and while much property was destroyed, no lives were lost.

There is a touching incident connected with the Johnstown calamity. The operator of the Western Union at Pittsburg was receiving from and sending to the operator at Johnstown who was a young lady. At three o'clock the girl was cheerfully ticking away that she had to abandon the office on the first floor, because the water was three feet deep there. She said she was telegraphing from the second story and the water was gaining steadily. The operator at Pittsburg told her to have hope, and she cheerfully talked back, but at 3:07 exactly there went over the wire a sound not made by human touch, and instantly all was silent on the wire and a watery grave could only answer the whereabouts of the operator for she and the office were carried down in the mad rush of the flood.

In pursuance of the plan recently announced, of presenting from time to time original articles on current topics of interest, Public Opinion, of Washington, will continue in its issue of June 8th, four original papers under the head of "The Saloon in Politics," each presenting a different phase of the great question. General Clinton B. Fisk will speak for prohibition, Hon. H. Crosby, for high license, Hon. Chauncey F. Black for anti-prohibition, and Mr. Albert Griffin for the anti-saloon movement. These papers, written expressly for this journal by recognized exponents of public sentiment, will cover the entire field of the saloon controversy and will constitute a highly interesting and valuable contribution toward the elucidation of one of the most complex and troublesome of all governmental problems.

The patriotism of Dubuque, is something astonishing. The city government has voted fifteen dollars for the celebration on the 4th of July. It is said that the city council of that town drinks more beer in two nights, than it is willing to appropriate for independence day.

Argentine Beef.

The Argentine republic proposes to enter into beef exportation on a gigantic scale, forced to it by the appeals of cattle men, who insist on having something done at once to stimulate their industry. The stock of cattle in the States of the Argentine confederation has increased within the last few years from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000, and the dressed carcasses of horned cattle bring only $3. Besides there are 90,000,000 of sheep, from which the country wishes to derive some profit. A consular report to our State department indicates that stall-fed cattle are unknown in the country, and that consequently the Argentine beef is not likely to compete successfully with that from North America in European markets.

Matters of Importance.

They were in the conservatory at an evening party, and there amid the perfume of the roses and posies, he had fervently declared his passion.

"Mr. Sampson, George," she responded, with womanly tenderness, "my heart has been wholly yours for months, and now," she went on, shyly taking his arm, "you may take me in to supper; I heard it announced when you first began those words of love which have so blissfully changed all the colors of my life."

DIGGING FOR THE DEAD.

TWENTY-TWO HUNDRED MEN WORKING AT JOHNSTOWN.

Plans for Removing the Debris Above the Bridge—An Epidemic of Pneumonia Threatened.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 5.—At the present rate there will soon be a live man digging in the ruins to every dead one. Evans Johns, the Pittsburg contractor, who, until William Flynn arrives to-morrow morning, has charge of the Smoky city forces, has 2,200 men at work on the ruins. There are twenty-six foremen here, all level-headed fellows, who keep their unwieldly and exhausted forces under masterful control. Although they are scattered all over the waste places, the heavy work was done on the point district, where 200 mansions lie in solid heaps of brick, stone and timbers. Here the labors of the searchers were rewarded by the discovery of a corpse about every five minutes. As a rule the bodies were mangled and unrecognizable, unless by marks or letters on their persons. In every case decomposition has set in, and the work of the searchers is becoming one that will test their stomachs as well as their hearts.

Superintendent Kirk of the Pittsburg dynamite company has set at rest the reports floating about that there were to be some terrific upheavals by dynamite. "We will not attempt to loosen the wreckage by dynamite," said he, "it is full of dead bodies, and they would be terribly mangled if dynamite were used. We will employ small cartridges for shattering heavy timbers occasionally, but that is all."

But Mr. Kirk has a scheme afoot that is as momentous as it is cheering to the thousands below Johnstown who have been exposed to the danger of pestilence from drinking Allegheny river water. A reeking menace to life and health lies in the bed of the Conemaugh for 300 yards above the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. When the drift accumulated against this adamantine structure, hundreds—some say thousands—of bodies were pinioned under the debris. It extends across the river 400 feet and twice that distance up stream. The awful story of how it caught fire and burned for three days, roasting the pinioned victims and filling the valley with the sickening odor of burning flesh, has been related. But the flames tired of their work too soon. They had burned the top off the huge pile and left the foul sediment to act as a sieve for the Conemaugh. Hundreds of half-burned corpses were taken off the place, but every timber held others where the strongest of machinery would be required to liberate them.

Mr. Kirk has decided that the bodies will rot before half of them can be reached in this manner, and hence his new plan. When the waters surged against the big stone bridge and were repelled they formed a vent through the embankment which had been washed away. The wreckage piled up against the bridge and the flood was turned into the new channel it had made, thus leaving the old bed a receptacle for drift. The water has been running through its new channel ever since. But the plan now is to build a wall along the old river course, turn the water into the drift, and thus flush it out. This is a monster scheme, but Mr. Kirk thinks the earth wall can be thrown up by to-morrow evening. A large force is to be put to work upon it at once.

Six improvised morgues are in Johnstown, and in these bodies are held until decomposition renders it unsafe to keep them longer. These temporary places for the dead are in churches and school houses, the largest one being the Fourth ward school house, where planks have been laid over the tops of desks and on them the remains are placed until they are identified or become offensive. In the latter case they are hurried to a large grave that will hereafter have a monument over it bearing the legend "Unknown dead." The number of the latter is growing hourly, because pestilence stalks in Johnstown and the bloated, disfigured masses of flesh can not be held much longer.

Bodies of stalwart workmen lie beside the remains of dainty ladies, many of whom are still decked with costly ear-rings and jewels on the fingers. Rich and poor throng these quarters and gaze with awe-struck faces at the masses of mutilations in the hope of recognizing a missing one, so as to accord the body a decent burial.

A wealthy young Philadelphian named Ogle was preparing to be married to a Johnstown lady early in June. The lover heard of the terrible flood, but knowing that the residence of his dear one was up in the hills felt little fear for her safety. To make sure, however, he started for Johnstown, arriving to-day. Near the Fourth-street morgue he meet Mr. Diehl.

"Thank God you are safe," he exclaimed; then added: "Is Carrie well?"

"She was visiting the valley when the wave came," was the mournful reply. Then he beckoned the young man to enter the chamber of death. A moment later Mr. Ogle was kneeling beside a rough bier and was kissing the cold, white face. From the lifeless finger he slipped a thin gold ring and in its place put one of his own. Then he stole quietly out, one of the thousands made to mourn by the bursting of the South Fork dam.

"Mamma, mamma," cried a child. She had recognized a body that no one else could, and in a moment the corpse was ticketed, boxed, and delivered to laborers, who bore it away to join the long funeral procession.

A mother recognized a baby boy. "Keep it a few minutes," she told the undertaker in charge. In a few moments she returned carrying in her arms a little white casket. Then she hired two men to carry it to a cemetery.

No hearses are seen in Johnstown. Relatives recognize their dead, secure the coffins, get them carried the best way they can to the morgues, then to the graveyards. A prayer, some tears, and a few more of the dead thousands are buried in Mother Earth.

A frequent visitor at these horrible places is David John Lewis. All over Johnstown he rides a powerful gray horse, and to each one he meets whom he knows he exclaims: "Have you seen my sisters?" Hardly waiting for a reply he gallops away, either to seek ingress to some morgue or to ride along the river bank. One week ago Mr. Lewis was worth $30,000, his all being invested in a large commission business. To-day he owns the horse he rides, the clothes on his back, and that is all. In the fierce wave were buried five of his near relatives, his sisters Anna, Lizzie, and Maggie; the latter was married and her little boy and babe were also drowned. They were all dearly loved by the merchant, who, crazed with grief, and mounted on his horse, is a conspicuous figure in the ruined city.

The flood and fire claimed among their victims not only the living but the dead. To-day a handsome coffin was found, half burned, in some charred wreckage down near the point. Inside was found the body of a man, shrouded for burial, but so scorched about the head and face as to be unrecognizable. The supposition is that the house in which the dead man had lain had been crushed and the debris partially consumed by fire. The body is still at the Fourth ward school house, and unless quickly reclaimed it will be buried in the unknown field.

NO PLACE FOR EVIL-DOERS.

A Crazed Deputy Marshal Makes It Warm for Suspected Persons.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 5.—Deputy Marshal Dick is a man whose condition excites general pity. His total bereavement of wife, family, and relatives has affected his brain, it is thought, and he goes riding about the country giving all the assistance in his power and keeping an especial lookout for law-breakers and vandals. He has distinguished himself on several occasions, it is reported, by shooting the Hungarians whom he detected pillaging the dead, but his last action is particularly noteworthy. Detective McTighe and two officers had arrested two crooks from Kansas City. They were taken to the Cambria lock-up, but the place was full of mud and it was impossible to lock them in there. A box-car was then visited, and while the officers were wrangling with the railroaders as to the advisability of placing the crooks inside Dick rode up. He was seated on a gray horse and imperiously demanded to know the cause of the trouble. It was explained to him.

"Stand the fellows there," shouted Dick, reining up his horse. His features stiffened into an expression of determination and rage, and he whipped out a revolver, leveled it at the quaking wretches, and muttered: "I'll stop their thieving."

"For God's sake don't!" cried McTighe, and he imploringly threw up both arms with a tragic gesture. "Don't do that, don't do that, for heaven's sake! Remember, we're officers of the law."

After some minutes' parleying Dick was called off, and better counsel prevailed. No accommodations could be found for the Kansas City gentry, and they were given five minutes to leave the town on the backward trip to Sang Hollow. They left with white faces and trembling limbs at an estimated rate of fifteen miles an hour.

SCOURGED WITH PNEUMONIA.

Escaped the Flood to Be Threatened with Death in Another Shape.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 5.—Pneumonia has broken out on Prospect hill, where several hundred terrified persons fled to escape the flood. Every little house on the hill, and there are a hundred or two of them, had thrown its doors open to receive the bruised and half-clad fugitives on the dark day of the deluge, and every one is now a crude hospital. Half the women who had scaled the height were so overcome with fright that they have been bedridden ever since. There had been pneumonia on the hill, but only a few isolated cases. To-day, however, several fresh cases developed among the flood fugitives, and a local physician said the prospects for a scourge are all too promising. The enfeebled condition of the patients, the unhealthy atmosphere pervading the valley, and the necessarily close quarters in which the people are crowded render the spread of the disease almost certain.

A ray of light has come in the nature of a carload of provisions, and another, from Columbus, Ohio, containing clean mattresses and bedding, all specified for the Prospect hill sufferers.

On this eminence stands the Cambria City hospital, and in this rambling cottage—it resembles one in exterior and comforts—a great work is being done through the combined agencies of medical science and brotherly love. The hospital is in charge of a corps of Altoona physicians, which the Pennsylvania railroad company rushed to the scene the morning after the flood. The wards are full of bruised and suffering ones who were dragged from the teeth of the flood.

Gen. Lew Wallace's Wife Missing.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Gen. Lew Wallace is very anxious concerning the safety of his wife. She left Indianapolis last Thursday and since that time he has not heard from her. He has telegraphed to many points without avail, and learned this morning that the train which bore his wife might have been caught somewhere in the flood which worked such awful havoc. It is hardly possible that any calamity could have befallen the passengers without some intelligence having been received by this time. It is altogether probable that the train has been stalled somewhere near Johnstown.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S GIFT.

Three Hundred Dollars Offered When the News of the Disaster Came.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The following telegram, sent on receipt of the first news of the Johnstown catastrophe, has just been made public:

"EXECUTIVE MANSION, June 1.—To the Mayor of Johnstown, Pa.: I have heard with profound grief of the sudden and appalling disaster which has befallen your city and people. There are no tents at Allegheny, but whatever help is possible will be given by the war department. Please draw on me for $300 for your relief fund. BENJAMIN HARRISON."

Aid from Other Points.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Messrs. Prince & Whitely have received instructions by cable to forward to the Mayor of New York $5,000 as a subscription from the London Stock Exchange to the Johnstown flood sufferers' fund.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 5.—Contributions are rapidly coming in from outside cities. The Philadelphia permanent relief fund is $5,000; citizens of Albany, $2,000; Troy, $1,000; Dutch church, Port Jarvis, N. Y., $200, First Congregational church, New Britain, Conn., $250; R. S. Alger, $500; M. S. Quay, $900; citizens of Sharon, $1,200; citizens of Trenton, $500. Contributions are arriving every hour.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., June 5.—The 5,000 employes of the McKeesport Tube works have given one day's wages for the sufferers.

New York Responds to the Call.

NEW YORK, June 5.—New York's response to the cry for help from the Conemaugh Valley was prompt. Subscriptions, aggregating something like $60,000, have been reported by the Mayor and from the various exchanges, and there are reports of private subscriptions whose results, not yet made known, will bring the total for active work in this city to nearly $100,000. Preparations have been made for a thorough canvass to-day, when a large addition to the fund will be made.

MILTON.

The cold, raw wind of Thursday prevented the holding of Memorial exercises in the park as arranged, and an adjournment was made to Goodrich hall. The hall was packed to its utmost capacity and fully as many were unable to secure standing room even and were obliged to forego the pleasure of being present. The following was the programme:

Music—Milton Cornet Band.
Prayer—Rev. R. W. Brayton.
Music—College male chorus, under the direction of Prof. J. M. Stillman.
Reading of general orders and other exercises, by the post.
Music—Male chorus.
Address—Hon. P. Norcross.
Music—Band.
Music—Male quartette—Messrs. Stillman, Burdick, Campbell and Burdick.

Then the procession was formed consisting of the Post, Relief Corps, children of the public schools and citizens, headed by the band, and marched to the cemetery. While the band were playing an appropriate selection the graves were decorated by the children, and after a benediction by Rev. W. B. Robinson the procession re-formed and marched back to the hall where they were dismissed. The exercises were excellent and the address by Capt. Norcross was highly commended by all who listened to it.

Fortunately the horse was unable to rise and both man and horse remained in that condition until A. C. Hudson, who was near by extricated the doctor. The doctor escaped serious injuries.

WOODRUFF'S CONFESSION.

IT IS GIVEN TO THE CORONER'S JURY.

How the Horse-Thief Implicates Detective Coughlin and Alex. Sullivan—Capt. Schaack Suspended.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The second day of the Cronin inquest followed the same lines as the first, witnesses being called to further identify the furniture in the cottage on Ashland avenue. Capt. Wing of the Lake View police read the following letter received by the Carlson's from their mysterious tenant a few days before the finding of Cronin's body:

HAMMOND, Ind., May 18, 1889.—Mr. Carlson: DEAR SIR—My sister is very low at present and my business calls me out of town. If you will please to put the furniture in your cellar for a few day's I will pay you for the trouble. I am sorry I lost the key of your cottage door, but I will pay you for all trouble. My sister told me to paint the floor for her so that it would not be so hard to keep clean. I am now sorry that I gave the front room one coat. (Signed) F. W.

Several of the police officers of Lake View testified to seeing a wagon containing three men and a trunk on the night of the murder, the combined testimony merely going to show the route taken by the murderers in disposing of the body.

Henry Bosch, who found the body, testified to that fact, as heretofore published.

Assistant County Physician Egbert then read his report of the autopsy on the body of Dr. Cronin. It related to the manner the body had been identified. Most of it had been offered at the previous session, and considerable of the rest was taken up with technical terms. It told of the incisions on the head. There were eight wounds in all. The lower part of the skull was fractured and a cut an inch and a quarter in length was near the left eye. The other wounds were acurately described. They must have been caused by a blunt instrument because the skin had been pushed to the skull but had not been cut off.

Finishing the report the witness said that the deceased must have received a severe blow; but that a man might be killed without his skull being fractured. The wounds indicated that the blows might have been inflicted by a slung shot. The witness was not sure whether the blows had been given from the back or front. Some of the wounds might possibly have been caused by a hatchet or ax. An adjournment was then taken.

The only sensational testimony of the day was that given by Capt. Schaack, of the Chicago-avenue police station. He gave a full resume of Woodruff's divers stories, the larger portion of which has been printed. The chief incident in Woodruff's talks related to an alleged meeting between the men King and Fairburn, Woodruff's companions in the drive with the trunk the night of May 4, and Alexander Sullivan a few days after Dr. Cronin's disappearance. Woodruff said that he saw King and Fairburn at a Lincoln avenue saloon as they were taking leave of a stranger. King had a big roll of bills and remarked to Woodruff, indicating the man who was going away "That's the great lawyer, Alexander Sullivan." Subsequently Woodruff told Capt. Schaack that "his man Coughlin" had hired him to drive the horse the night of May 4.

FRANK J. BLACK, ALIAS WOODRUFF.

The coroner and Foreman Critchell quizzed Capt. Schaack closely about his apparent failure to probe the Cronin case with his accustomed vigor. The captain finally admitted that he did not believe the doctor was dead at the time the connections of Coughlin with the case began to develop. So many rumors about the doctor having been seen at different places made it difficult for him to make up his mind what had become of Cronin. Being pressed with questions why he did so and so, the captain said: "Well, I did it. If I made a mistake I made it on my own judgment, not by collusion with any body."

John W. Sampson, better known as "major," the notorious North-side tough, with whom Dan Coughlin is said to have attempted to make a bargain of a most extraordinary nature, was next called to the stand.

Sampson said that he is a machinist by trade. He said that he was acquainted with Detective Dan Coughlin, having known him for a little more than three years.

"Did he ever speak to you about Dr. Cronin?"

"Yes; he waited on me one evening and wanted to know if I could not slug him (Cronin). I said, 'I don't know, Dan, that is a pretty hard offer for a detective to make.' 'Well,' he says, 'I would not want you to beat him up too bad, but I would like you to give him a good beating.'"

"When was this?"

"About a year ago last September."

"Was anybody present at that time?"

"Yes; I took a friend of mine down with me to the police station, where I had agreed to meet Coughlin again about the matter. I was afraid Coughlin might be only wanting to decoy me down there and lock me up, and I wanted to have somebody with me to give word of it to my friends if he did."

"Who is that friend?"

"William Lynn."

"Did Coughlin say anything else besides this to you about slugging Cronin?"

"Yes, I met him near the station; my friend stood on the other side of the street and Coughlin then said that this would be a good time to slug Cronin because it was election time and Cronin was making speeches, and people would think it was some election trouble he had gotten into." Sampson said that he afterward told Cronin about the affair, but Cronin laughed at him and said that he paid no attention to such matters. He said that after this Coughlin seemed to have some kind of a spite for him for refusing to do the job, and had him locked up once or twice for vagrancy.

William Lynn, 14 North Market street, corroborated Sampson's story in most of its details.

CAPT. SCHAACK SUSPENDED.

Chief Hubbard Thinks the Captain Tried to Shield Coughlin.

CHICAGO, June 5.—For disobedience of orders and apparent willful neglect of duty in connection with the Cronin case, Capt. Michael J. Shaack has been suspended from the police force pending an investigation that may end in his dismissal. He was suspended by the order of Chief of Police Hubbard and with the full sanction of Mayor Cregier.

Capt. Schaack has been suspected of conniving to shield Dan Coughlin ever since the detective was suspected. So queer were the Captain's tactics that the Mayor and the chief have kept close watch upon him. When the Captain gave his testimony before the coroner's jury, Chief Hubbard was present and listened to it all. The Captain was nervous, and his story was in several particulars evasive and contradictory. He was closely pressed for reasons why he had not had Dinan's buggy and white horse properly identified; why he had not investigated the whereabouts of Coughlin and Whalen the night of the murder; why he had not arrested the man Thomas Smith who hired the buggy, or inquired for him in Hancock, Mich., and why he had apparently sought to protect Coughlin by inaction and disobedience of orders.

Before the inquest adjourned the chief had made up his mind to discharge Capt. Schaack if he could obtain the Mayor's consent. He saw Mayor Cregier and the two discussed the matter for about an hour. The Mayor quite agreed with the chief as to the facts and the necessity for prompt action, but out of consideration for the services of an old offiber he counseled present suspension pending an inquiry.

THAT BROKEN DAM.

Investigation Shows that the Owners Are to Be Greatly Blamed.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 5.—The secretary of the South Fork Fishing club says that the club has not filed an indemnity bond, as claimed by a citizen of Ebensburg, and that no claim had ever been made about the safety of the dam by any of the Johnstown citizens. He is undoubtedly correct as to the bond, but is misleading as to the second part of his statement.

There is not a shadow of doubt that citizens of Cambria county frequently complained and that at the time the dam was constructed a very vigorous effort was made to put a stop to the work.

The leader in this movement was a large mine owner in Cambria county, whose mine adjoins the reservoir property. In relating the story of his labors to protect the lifes and property of the people in that valley he said he was frequently on the spot and his own engineer inspected the work. He says the embankment was principally of shale and clay and that straw was used to stop the leaking of water while the work was going on.

He called on the sheriff of Cambria county and told him it was his duty to apply to the court for an injunction. The sheriff promised to give the matter his attention, but instead of going before the court, went to the Cambria Iron company for consultation.

An employe was sent up to make an inspection, and as his report was favorable to the reservoir work the sheriff went no further. But the gentleman referred to said he had not failed to make public his protest at the time and to renew it frequently. This recommendation for an injunction and protest were spoken of by citizens of Altoona as a hackneyed subject.

A DISGRACE TO ILLINOIS.

The Governor's Mansion Condemned as a Leaky Old Rat-Trap.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 5.—The commission appointed by the Legislature to examine the Governor's mansion has made a thorough examination and found that the roof leaks so badly that pans have to be placed on the marble mantels in the parlors to catch the rain which runs through to the first floor of the building. The commission privately considers the building to be no better than a rat-trap, a disgrace to the State, and unfit for the habitation of a person of respectability, and thinks that it ought to be torn down. Commissioner Merritt holds that $50,000 will be required to make necessary repairs. It rained during the last public reception held in the mansion and after the guests were gone plaster fell from the ceiling. Commissioner Wiggins says there is not $300 worth of furniture in the house. The Governor and family will go to Bloomington for the summer about the 20th.

PSORIASIS 8 YEARS HEAD, ARMS AND BREAST A SOLID SCAB. BACK COVERED WITH SORES. BEST DOCTORS AND MEDICINES FAIL. CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES AT A COST OF $3.75.

I have used the Cuticura Remedies with the best results. I used two bottles of the Cuticura Resolvent, three boxes of Cuticura, and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes my head would be a solid scab, and was at the time I began the use of the Cuticura Remedies. My arms were covered with scabs from my elbows to my shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab and my back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was hereditary, and, I began to think, incurable, but it began to heal from the first application of Cuticura. ARCHER RUSSELL, Desher, Ohio.

SKIN DISEASE 6 YEARS CURED.

I am thankful to say that I have used the Cuticura Remedies for about eight months with great success, and consider myself entirely cured of salt rheum, from which I have suffered for six years. I tried a number of medicines and two of the best doctors in the country, but found nothing that would effect a cure until I used your remedies.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for One Dollar.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed, to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional, instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the Radical cure, one box Catharral Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions; and sold by all druggists, for $1.00.

SCARED THE LONDONERS.

They Thought "Jack the Ripper" Had Bobbed Up Again.

LONDON, June 5.—The whole city is horrified this morning by the intelligence of another outrage similar to those wrought by the mysterious "Jack the Ripper." The abdomen of a woman, mutilated horribly, like the victims of the Whitechapel fiend, was found floating in the Thames at Horsely Down. The mere fact of the discovery is all that has yet reached here, but it has created wild excitement, and further news is anxiously awaited.

LATER—The police officials say later discoveries in regard to the abdomen of the woman found in the Thames do not point to murder, but indicate the fragment was from the subject of a medical dissection.

To Be Sold Into Slavery.

PADUCAH, Ky., June 5.—Mary Hollaway and Ann Keckman, two worthless negresses, have been sentenced by the court to be sold into servitude for one year. In a few days they will be knocked down at public auction to the highest bidder. Pressure is being brought to bear on the judge to suspend sentence on condition that the vagabonds leave town.

Wind's Work in Texas.

PARIS, Tex., June 5.—A cyclone swept through Lamar county, Texas, doing great damage to crops, leveling fences, unroofing houses and barns, and injuring a number of people. The cyclone struck the Southern section of the county and moved in an easterly direction, sweeping everything in its path before it.

Ten Thousand Lives Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 5.—A private cablegram received here by a Chinese firm reports that a hurricane at Hong Kong has caused the loss of 10,000 lives and great damage to property.

"My daughter was greatly troubled with scrofula, and at one time, it was feared she would lose her sight. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has completely restored her health, and her eyes are as well as ever, with not a trace of scrofula in her system."—G. KING, Kingingly, Conn.

A BARBER'S FISHING TRIP.

In Escaping From a Bull He Encounters Moccasin Snakes and Alligator-Gars.

A singular and nearly fatal accident occurred here some time since, says a Macon (Miss.) letter to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Henry Massengale, a barber of this place, whose word is truth itself, was the principal figure in the drama. The Noxubee river, which flows past the city, is a deep but narrow stream, and is the home and breeding-place of the cotton-mouthed moccasin and alligator-gar, both of which are full of fight. Massengale went out fishing, and in passing through a pasture on the river was furiously attacked by a Jersey bull belonging to Jacob Holberg. He dropped his tackle, made a bee line for the river, and sought safty on a log which extended into the stream. The bull stood at the shore end, bellowing and literally tearing up the earth. Just as Massengale was congratulating himself on his escape he happened to glance around and to his horror he saw two immense moccasins, with open mouths, glittering eyes, and vibrating tongues, slowly crawling toward him from the other end of the log. His hair would have stood on end had it not been kinky. Moccasins are doubly dangerous when courting. There was but one chance now for escape and Massengale took that. He leaped into the river and made for the other bank. No sooner had he touched the water than he was attacked by a number of alligator-gars. He fought them off as well as he could and finally reached the opposite more dead than alive, having received seven wounds from these creatures. He was found in this condition by a party of miners, who were engaged in getting out phosphates from a bluff on the river and hauling it to the fertilizer factory here, and brought home in one of their wagons. Massengale now lies in a critical condition, but will probably recover.

A WELL-TRAINED COYOTE.

He Will Capture Prairie Chickens and Run Down Jack-Rabbits.

Dr. J. F. Morehead of Arkansas City has a pet coyote, which is a first-class hunter. Jingle, as the animal is named, was caught at Dexter, before it could see, by a colored boy named Bass. It was raised by aid of a bottle with a rubber tube, and was kept on a milk diet for some weeks. Now Jingle can eat almost anything, though he has a partiality for poultry and a passion for fat ducks. It is quite tame, and resembles a bull dog in disposition. With strangers he is treacherous, but with those who know him he is quite friendly and very jealous of any caresses bestowed on his friend, the doctor's fine Irish spaniel. Jingle was taught hunting when quite young, and he is now a treasure in the field. He will put up a jack rabbit, and run it down by strategy. If he sees prairie chickens on the ground he will steal up quietly and catch one or two by a sudden spring. He is pretty good on deer. No amount of teaching will persuade him that he ought to carry game to the hunter. He will readily relinquish all claim to his spoils, but he holds on until a distinct command is made. One of Jingle's pet aversions is a cat. In order to catch a stray pussy he will pretend to be tugging at his chain, while he has really lots of slack. He can measure distance to the inch, and if ever a cat gets within his reach he makes a spring and pussy's owners are left wondering what has become of her.

THE BULLDOG'S MISTAKE.

He Took a California Burro to Be a Jack Rabbit.

The donkey is a lazy, harmless-looking bird, the synonym of stupidity, says the Dallas (Texas) News, and would never be suspected of possessing fighting qualities by those imperfectly acquainted with him. Yet when his Irish is once aroused he is a holy terror. Near the entrance of the zoological gardens at Cincinnati there is to be seen the stuffed hide of a donkey which killed a lion which escaped from its cage and sprang upon him. This equestrian statue of the donkey is pointed out to all visitors to the garden. The story now comes of a fight between a burro and a bull dog in Fresno, Cal. Burro is California as well as Texas for donkey. The burro was browsing on cockle burrs by the roadside, so the story runs, when the bull dog trotted along, stopped, and with a growl seized the donkey by the shank-bone of the off-hind leg. The donkey immediately brought his hind quarters into action, and its legs and the dog flew through the air in the most active way, for the latter refused to let go. The burro lay down on its back, brought its hind legs up to its head, and seized the dog with its teeth. Then both hung on. The dog let go first. The burro arose and rubbed the dog back and forth over a barbed wire fence until it was dead.

THE CRIMINAL RECORD.

SUMMARY VENGEANCE TAKEN AT TOPEKA, KAN.

A Murderous Burglar Taken from Jail and Lynched—Wisconsin's Robber Again Appears—Crimes.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 5.—One of the most startling tragedies ever enacted in this city occurred Tuesday morning.

At 4 o'clock the Hon. A. T. Rodgers of the firm of Rodgers & Stranahan, merchant tailors, was fatally shot by a burglar, and Mrs. Rodgers was shot so that her recovery is doubtful. At the hour named Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, who sleep in a second story back room at their home on the northeast corner of Fillmore and Third streets, were awakened by the sudden entrance into the room of a man from the outside. Springing from the bed, Mr. Rodgers found himself confronted by a stoutly built and desperate-looking man armed with a revolver. Mr. Rodgers knew at a glance the character of the intruder, and started to grapple with him, followed by Mrs. Rodgers. The burglar fired as they closed in on him, the ball taking effect in Mrs. Rodgers' groin.

By this time the master of the house was on the burglar and endeavoring to disarm him. A fierce struggle ensued, in which all three took part. Several shots were fired by the desperado as his wrist was held tight by his assailant. One of these took effect in Mr. Rodger's left arm and another in the center of the abdomen. A third shot went through the left hand of the burglar.

Rodgers now got the revolver away and struck the villain over the head with it. Mrs. Rogers had bit the fellow severely in the right hand to make him let go the revolver, and they had him thoroughly subdued and badly wounded, but neither knew that they themselves were wounded. The prisoner pleaded piteously to be allowed to go and was at last permitted to escape, probably because his captors were too weak to continue the struggle longer. After letting the man go Mr. Rodgers discovered that he and his wife were both shot, and from the gun he had taken fired the remaining shots to alarm the neighbors. The latest reports are that both Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers are fatally wounded.

LATER—Before he could leave town the burglar was captured by the police and lodged in jail. He gave the name of Nathan Ollphant.

An indignation meeting was held in the afternoon and a program for the night mapped out. Early in the evening a crowd began to gather around the jail, swelling in numbers until the vacant lots around the jail and the street for two blocks were literally packed with excited men. The crowd was wild and there was an almost universal sentiment in favor of having the prisoner at any costs and dealing out summary justice.

Though guarded by a detail of police a crowd of 100 effected entrance to the jail at 10 o'clock in the evening and soon broke into the robber's cell. Taking him to one of the most prominent business corners in town, he was given an opportunity to talk, and he confessed his crime. A rope was then adjusted around his neck and the other end was thrown to a man who had climbed a telegraph pole. The rope was thrown over the cross-bar and the miserable wretch jerked dangling in the air. A pistol shot was fired, the rope was made fast, and the crowd dispersed. The hanging took place in the full glare of an electric light.

WISCONSIN'S GREAT ROBBER.

His Latest Exploit Is the Robbing of a Storekeeper at Bonduel.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—The daring bandit, who has stopped three coaches in the vicinity of Shawano and held up the passengers on a Milwaukee & Northern train, bobs up again. This time he appears in the prosaic role of a robber who intimidates a lone country store keeper. He appeared at 8 o'clock this morning in the little town of Bonduel, fifteen miles from Shawano. He walked quietly into a general store owned by Sol Kann and at the muzzle of the usual revolver compelled him to give up all his money and gold watch. Then the robber jumped into a wagon that was standing in front of the store and drove the team on a dead run on the road toward Gillette. Mr. Kann was so dazed by the suddenness of the attack that he made no resistance whatever, but quietly handed over his valuables. It is reported that he also held up an Indian on the road a few days ago. A large force of men attracted by the reward are now hunting for him, but none of them dare invade his retreat in the forest.

An Old Man's Awful Deed.

TRENTON, N. J., June 5.—James McCaren, a gray-haired man known as "Jimmy, the Bum," created great consternation here yesterday afternoon by running about with a revolver in each hand and threatening to murder somebody. On the corner of Bridge and Fais streets he shot and killed John Shea. Shea had made a jocular remark to him, and in a flash the old man fired, the bullet entering Shea's breast just above the heart. Some women sitting on a doorstep near by screamed "Murder." McCaren turned to them, flourished his revolver, and threatened to shoot if they made any outcry. They retreated through the open door. Other persons attracted by the cries came hurrying up. The murderer ran toward the crowd, driving it before him. He was finally captured by the police. Shea leaves a wife and several children.

Cashier Jessup's Restitution.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 5.—It was said yesterday evening at a lively meeting of the depositors of the defunct Scranton City bank that Assignee Gunster would be ready to make his report of that institution to day. Judge Stanton spoke forcibly in favor of taking action against the directors, and said he was sorry that they had not been indicted before the grand jury last week. The meeting was strongly in favor of prosecution unless a satisfactory settlement was made. Cashier Jessup has turned over the deeds of coal property, said to be worth nearly $200,000, for the purpose of making good his defalcation.

The Bear Will Go to Behring Sea.

NEW YORK, June 5.—It is learned that the United States steamer Bear has received, in addition to a six-inch rifle, an efficient secondary battery of gatlings which formerly belonged to the Hartford when that vessel was flagship on the Pacific station. The orders directing the Bear to proceed to Behring sea are now on their way to San Francisco. The vessel will carry a complement of about seventy men, a force which is deemed amply sufficient to cope with any armed sealers she may fall in with. The Bear will proceed to the islands of St. George and St. Paul, and will detail an officer and two men to guard these island against all comers. St. George and St. Paul are feeding grounds for the seals, and it is distinctly specified by law that the officer in charge shall permit no one to land.

The vocal organs are strengthened by the use of Cherry Pectoral. Clergymen, lawyers, singers, actors and public speakers find this preparation the most effective remedy for irritation and weakness of the throat and lungs, and for all affections of the vocal organs.

A GOOD HONEST MEDICINE.

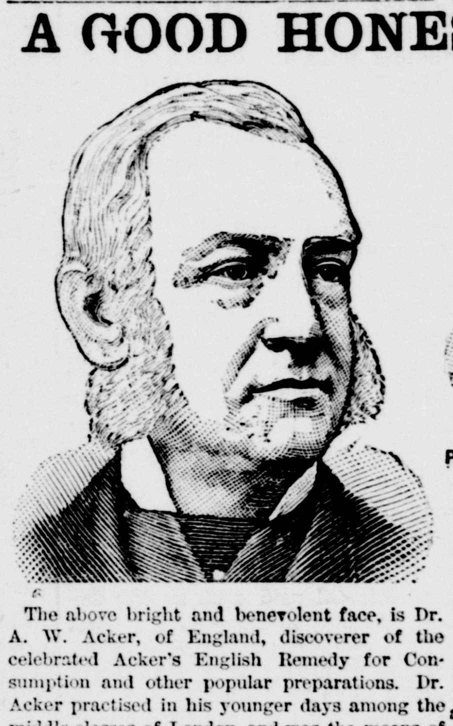
THE STORY OF A YEAR.



PHOTOGRAPH FROM LIFE TAKEN ONE YEAR AGO.

PHOTOGRAPH FROM LIFE AS SHE NOW APPEARS.

The above bright and benevolent face, is Dr. A. W. Acker, of England, discoverer of the celebrated Acker's English Remedy for Consumption and other popular preparations. Dr. Acker practised in his younger days among the middle classes of London, and was the means of doing great good, but his health failed and he found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. While in this condition, he discovered the celebrated English Remedy, saved his own life and has since saved the lives of thousands who were on the sure road to death. Any man or woman who feels a tickling in the throat, who coughs, especially in the morning, who raises or has a tight feeling across the chest, who has sharp shooting pains through the lungs or difficulty in breathing, should realize that these are the first symptoms of consumption which, if neglected, are sure to result fatally. Dr. Acker's English Remedy has cured more than one thousand persons who unquestionably had consumption and who were given up by their friends. It merits its popularity and is sold by reputable druggists in every city and town in America. You can't afford to be without it.

"Look on this picture and then on that." The above faces are exact reproductions of photographs taken from life of Mrs. Morton D. Harlan, who resides at No. 55 West 25th Street, New York City. The first one was taken in November, 1887, while in the last stages of consumption, abandoned by physicians and mourned by friends. The other was taken in December, 1888, when completely recovered, and entirely through the use of Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption. The above pictures are wood cuts, but they are true to life and the original photographs, taken from life, can be seen at all the drug stores. Mrs. Harlan's consumption began as consumption usually does, with a cough in the morning, raising of phlegm, tired and depressed feelings, a lack of appetite, the loss of flesh and pains throughout the body. She did not realize her extreme danger until it became almost too late, but she is in perfect health to-day. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption is sold by all reputable druggists. You can't afford to be without it.

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because you have the time to read it. There is a paper published in Australia which is as large as a blanket. This wouldn't suit you. You want a newspaper at once convenient, complete and condensed, and still you don't want to overlook anything of real importance. You don't want your neighbor to say to you, "Did you read so-and-so in to-day's paper? and be obliged to answer, "No, I didn't see that," and then have him ask you, "What paper do you read?" This will never happen to you if you read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.
If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west; is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.
The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.
The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.
In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.
Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors.

HE WANTS $40,000 MORE.

Damages Asked for in the Marsh Reaper Case Increased.

ARGUMENTS MADE TO-DAY.

Mr. Marsh Now Sues the Harris Manufacturing Co. for a Round Hundred Thousand.

The difference between two rusty harvesters that stood back of the court house to-day meant, to somebody, one hundred thousand dollars. One was built under the Marsh patent and the other under the Johnston patent, claimed by Mr. Marsh to be an infringement.

For a time all the harvesters turned out at the Harris works were under the Marsh patent, which provided for a rake-reel so hung that the rakes on leaving the platform were carried over out of the driver's way. The Johnston patent followed, making it possible for the driver to stop the rake at any time. This patent was soon adopted at the Harris works, and royalty was paid Mr. Johnston instead of Mr. Marsh. Mr. Marsh insisted that the later patent was an infringement on his, and sued for royalties amounting to $62,000. Arguments in the case were made to-day. Before the arguments began, permission was given by Judge Bennett to change the amount sued for to $100,000.

TO CANVASS THE COUNTY.

MEETING OF THE BIBLE SOCIETY THIS MORNING.

Rev. A. J. Mead, now in charge of the American Bible Society's work in Wisconsin, met a number of the officers of the Rock County Bible Society at Sutherland's book store this morning. The meeting was to discuss the advisability of having the county thoroughly canvassed by a colporteur of the national society. Heretofore the distribution of bibles throughout the county has been left to volunteers, and of necessity has at times been somewhat slighted. It was decided that the official canvass should be made if the parent society would take the matter in charge and leave it to the Rock county branch to provide for its share of the expense.

JUMPED FROM THE TRAIN.

LEFT ROCK COUNTY RAINS AND MET THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD.

Miss Maggie Eley started from Fulton to her home in New Jersey on Thursday of last week. On Friday came the news of the Johnstown flood and also word that Miss Eley left Chicago on one of the trains that was swept away.

News has now been received that while Miss Eley was on the ill fated train she escaped unharmed. The train was on the side track at Johnstown when the dam broke, but the passengers being warned of the approaching flood left the cars and reached higher ground before the train was swept away.

It is not expected that the pastor, whoever he may be, will commence his labors as regular pastor until the first of September, but regular Sunday morning services will be continued until the first of July, when a vacation will probably be taken until the first of September.

"PROGRESSIVE OLD MAID."

THE GAME WELL TESTED BY THE FRIENDS OF MISS JENNIE HODSON.

A company of young people were very pleasantly received at the home of Miss Jennie Hodson last evening. The entertainment was in honor of Miss Hodson's guest, Miss Flora Walker, of Detroit, and Miss Taylor, niece to Mrs. Anson Rogers. "Progressive old maid" occupied the most of the evening, Miss Fenno Bostwick carrying off the honors. The guests were Misses Jessie Jackman, Mabel Jackman, Maud McKinney, Laura McKinney, Hattie Fifield, Fannie Vankirk, and Messrs. W. G. Wheeler, Herb V. Allen, R. M. Bostwick, J. L. Bostwick, Al. Schaller, John V. Norcross, Richard McKey and Will P. Sayles.

TODD'S

"BURTON & INDIA PALE ALES"

are acknowled by judges to be superior to the Imported English Ales. They have the virtue of being strictly pure—nothing save malt and hops, and of the choicest quality, enters into their composition. Consequently all the nutritive tonic and restorative properties those ingredients are known to possess are found judiciously blended in these brands of ale.—Brewery east end Milwaukee St. bridge.

To Consumers.

Only think of it! You can now buy the best of June butter at from 10 to 12 cents. You will pay 25 and 30 this winter. Why not put away 50 or 100 pounds for winter use. I can keep it sweet and nice at an expense to you of only one cent per pound in my Jackson dry cold storage. No charge until butter is removed next winter. C. B. Conrad.

AND RITON IS ITS NAME.

A New Milwaukee & St. Paul Station Just South of this City.

COMPETITION FOR AFTON.

Supt. Collins Fixes the Location of Janesville's New Riverside Suburb.

Supt. W. W. Collin's investigations between this city and Beloit are likely to be of considerable importance.

"A Milwaukee & St. Paul station corresponding to Afton on the Northwestern road will be established at once," said Supt. Collins last evening. "Orders for the hauling of materials will be given at once. The new station will be called Riton and will be located on the bank of the river about three-quarters of a mile below Afton. Application was made for it some time ago, but no definite arrangements were made. The new depot will be built in the form of a Swiss cottage, and will be finished in modern style throughout."

The people of the town of Rock have been working for the new station for nearly a year. At the spot chosen there is quite a cluster of farm houses on each side of the river, and the farmers in that vicinity have subscribed enough to provide a wagon bridge, which will be begun at once. A long side track has already been laid, and all the trains going either way will make the station a regular stopping place. The new village, located as it is on one of the handsomest spots along Rock river, is likely to assume considerable importance.

OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

ITS CONDITION AND WANTS—QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE CHIEF ENGINEER.

At the regular meeting of the common council held on Monday evening, Chief Engineer Blunk submitted his quarterly report as follows:

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council:

Gentlemen: I herewith present my report of the condition of the fire department for the three months ending with date.

Since my last report, March 4th, last, the department has responded to thirteen fire alarms, making twenty-two runs since January 1st. Details of losses sustained at each fire, together with insurance, are kept in the fire department register, a summary of which will be given in my annual report.

During the past three months I have paid $29.72 for 3,860 pounds of oats, and $23 24 for 5,810 pounds of hay, making a total of $52.96. We have feed in kind on hand sufficient to subsist seven horses for twenty days, making an average cost per day for each horse of about sixteen cents. The two horses belonging to the fire patrol were placed in the east side engine house on May 10th, since which time they have been kept the same as the other horses in the department.

On May 30th the new fire patrol wagon was placed in service, stationed at the east side engine house. This wagon has been equipped by the fire police company, at an expense of $1,282.85. The wagon was built by the Empire Cross Spring company, of this city, at a cost to the Fire Police Co. of $450. The wagon is not only a credit to the manufacturers, but to the city, and likewise to our manufacturing industries. This wagon is thoroughly equipped with fire extinguishers, tarpaulins, and other paraphernalia usually carried by patrol or salvage corps in other cities. The wagon is manned by the Fire Police Company, who have employed a driver to drive and care for the horses, thus placing an additional paid man in the department without expense to the city. That this company, with its new outfit, will prove of great service in the fire department, I have no doubt.

The addition of the fire patrol wagon has necessitated several changes to be made, especially at the east side engine house. Here a partition has been placed on the lower floor, bringing the horse stalls forward sixteen feet; a new building has been built in the rear for the storing of the two fire engines, thus making room for the city marshal's horse and patrol wagon at the west side house. Water services have been put in both houses; at the west side house a water guage has been placed, showing the water pressure on the mains at all times; a water closet has also been constructed in the west side house. The front wall of the east side house has been repaired. I cannot at this time give the cost of these repairs and alterations, as the bills have not been collected. Much of the labor, however, was performed by the regular paid men, without additional cost.

I have caused several minor repairs to be made on the No. 1 engine, and that engine is now in first class condition.

Two changes have occurred in No. 2 company—Captain Goerge Airis having resigned his membership has been succeeded by Patrick Dugan as captain, Patrick Gallagher being appointed as a member to fill vacancy. Ben. Barriage having resigned as a "call" man to accept the position of driver of the fire patrol, his vacancy has not been filled, and it is thought best to leave it vacant for the present.

A fire alarm box has been located at the corner of Pleasant and Gold streets, fifth waerd, being box No. 56.

With the exception of a new roof on the east side house and a little paint on the interior of the building, the houses are now in good repair. A new roof is required on the east side house it being in very bad condition at this time.

The horses are in good condition, and are giving satisfaction in every particular.

Everthing connected with the apparatus of the fire department, excepting the hook and ladder truck and its equipments, is in good order, and so far as can be seen require no repairs or additions.

I cannot too earnestly call your attention to the condition of the hook and ladder truck and its equipments, and of the necessity of purchasing a new truck at this time. The present hook and ladder outfit is worthless in our department, and is a waste of money to keep it in services. There is now sufficient funds on hand with which to purchase a good truck without crippling other branches of the service, and I earnestly trust the common council will favorably consider this recommendation.

We now employ five men in the fire department at a total cost to the city of $2,100 a year. This is allowing each men $35 a month or $420 a year. Three of the men now employed have families and are devoting their whole time—twenty-four hours each day, every day in the year—to their duties as firemen, and are thereby prevented from engaging in or attending to any other business by which they could receive pecuniary gain. This pay of $35 a month is considered too small, barely enough to meet the monthly demands of their families. I would recommend that the pay be increased five dollars a month, which would only increase the yearly total $300.

Respectfully submitted,
H. Blunk,
Chief Engineer.

Janesville, June 3, 1889.

WISCONSIN ODD FELLOWS.

REPORTS OF THE GRAND OFFICERS OF THE GRAND LODGE

The Grand Lodge of Wisconsin Odd Fellows convened in Milwaukee yesterday. The Grand Master's report dealt with the history of the order in the state during the past year, and the progress which has been made. It noted new lodges instituted as follows: Belle Center, No. 81, at Belle Center, Crawford county; Valley, No. 82, at Chippewa Falls, Chippewa county; Harmony, No. 84, at Williamsburg, Milwaukee county; Rosedale, No. 89, at Rosedale, Fond du Lac county; Forresters, No. 109, at Eagle River, Oneida county; Marshfield, No. 110, at Marshfield, Wood county; Kinnickinnic, No. 131, at Milwaukee; Leota, No. 116, at Evansville, Rock county. The defunct Westfield lodge was reinstated at Reedsburg, a temple was built by Konemie lodge at Appleton, and Sagola lodge at Lake Mills, and Lima Center Lodge at Lima Center, each built new lodge halls, all of which have been properly dedicated. The grand master recommended the holding of more public installation, as a means of advancing the interests of the order and stimulating the growth of membership.

The grand secretary's report showed a decrease in membership in the state during the year of 135. The number of members dropped was 1,139, exceeding that of any previous year since 1877, and the number initiated, reinstated and received by card is greater than during any year since 1883. The total cash receipts for the year ending April 15, 1889, were $7,946 97. The records showed 311 lodges reporting. The total membership December 1, 1888, is given at 14,679; amount paid for relief of brothers during the year, $11.615.95; for relief of widowed families, $3,449.50; for education of orphans, $85. The report showed a cash balance in the treasury, April 1, 1889, of $9,756.74, a gain in surplus during the year of $915.27.

In the meeting of the Rebecca degree, a portion of the officers were elected and some special work done. Mrs. R. Cook, of Oshkosh, was elected president; Miss Eva Ihing, of Milwaukee, vice president; Mrs. Sarah E. Hutchinson, of Waneka, Secretary Mrs. Matie Soule, of Milton, Junction, treasurer. The election of an executive committee and representatives to the national lodge was deferred. The Oshkosh degree staff gave an exemplification of the Ohio work, and Crystal lodge of Bay View, exemplified the California work. These two forms of the work were very interesting and the staff giving them showed efficiency and thorough training.

At the evening session Mayor T. H Brown delivered an address of welcome to the members present, which was responded to by Grand Master T. K. Dunn and the evening was devoted to a concert and general sociability.

A FINE DROVE OF CATTLE.

THEY PASS THROUGH THE CITY ENROUTE FOR CHICAGO.

This forenoon Mr. T. H. Austin, of Johnstown, passed through the city with a drove of one hundred head of fat cattle, passing along East and West Milwaukee street to the Northwestern stock yards. The cattle attracted much attention, everyone admitting that they were the finest lot of cattle ever seen in this city. At the Northwestern stock yards the cattle were loaded into cars and taken to the Chicago market. These cattle were of uniform size, hornless, and very fat. They were fed by Mr. Austin, on his Johnstown farm. Mr. Austin is extensively engaged in stock raising, and while he has heretofore shipped many fine herds to market, this is unquestionably the finest of all.

THE MEMORY CLASS.

A LARGE MEETING LAST ENENING—THE ORGANIZATION PERFECTED.

A meeting was held last night in Kinney & Sander's commercial college, for the organization of a class in White's System of Memorizing and Memory Training. The attendance was good, probably not less than 125 peing present. Mr. J. J. Thomson, the instructor, gave a discussion of mnemonical systems in their history and nature and traced the origin and development of this, the natural method. He gave an exercise in memorizing a list of thirty-five words according to his system, and the whole audience repeated the list forward and backward. The ease with which this list of words was mastered shows that this plan of memorizing is a good one.

The enrollment for the class was begun and will be continued at King & Skelly's bookstore. The first regular lesson of the course will be given at the commercial college Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

JANESVILLE IS FIFTH.

Nearly Half a Hundred Factories Operated In Janesville.

AN EXCELLENT SHOWING.

Factory Inspector Moore's Report Shows that Janesville's Progress Has Been Marked

Factory Inspector James C. Moore has just finished his tour of Janesville factories; and his official report to Commissioner H. M. Stark, of the bureau of labor and industrial statistics, shows a splendid industrial progress for the city. The number of manufacturing establishments of all kinds is forty three, in which 1,183 persons are employed. Of this number, 557 are females. In the matter of female labor, Janesville leads all other cities, even Milwaukee not excepted. The percentage of female factory labor in the state is but a trifle over 10 per cent, while that of Janesville is 47 per cent. The bulk of this found in the cotton mills, where three hundred of the four hundred employes are women.

The total steam horse power of the city is 554 as against 1,261 water power. The number of engines is therefore comparatively small, being only 24; the number of steam boilers is 28.

The addition of new machinery to the city's manufacturing capacity, since the formal inspection of July, 1887, amounts to $46,150, while the improvements to the factory buildings during the same period foot up $11,890.

Janesville ranks fifth in number of factory employes of the cities outside of Milwaukee, inspected since March 1st of this year. Following is the factory population of the cities named:

| | |
|---|---|
| Racine | 4,056 |
| Sheboygan | 3,409 |
| Oshkosh | 3,175 |
| Fond du Lac | 1,442 |

The total amount spent for new machinery in all the above cities, during the last eighteen months is $674,415; for factory building improvements, $718,550.

IN THE GARDEN.

She's fairer than a lily,
And she's sweeter than a rose,
And she knocks the neighbors silly
When she wields the garden hose.

She lifts her skirts from danger
With her left hand, while her right
Grasps the nozzle, and the stranger
Gets a very pleasing sight.

For she's always fresh and rosy,
And she seems so sweet and fair,
And she sprinkles every posy
With the most impartial care.

The neighbors' eyes all twinkle
And their interest daily grows,
For they like to see her sprinkle,
And they like to see the hose.

THEIR SESSION CLOSED.

MINISTERS ENJOY GOOD CHEER WITH THE REV. W. F. BROWN.

A tempting collation at the home of the Rev. W. F. Brown last evening, was by no means the least important subject before the Beloit Ministerial Association. After the repast had been thoroughly discussed, the guests drew their chairs a little closer together, and listened to the opinions of the Rev. Cyrus Hamilton and Prof. R. D. Salisbury on "Evolutionary Philosophy." To the question "What is the cause of variation and natural selection?" Mr. Hamlin gave "The Theologians' Answer," and Prof. Salisbury, "The Scientists' Answer."

The paper presented by Prof. Salisbury showed that the Darwinian theory of development, even from the standpoint of the scientist, does not change the necessity for a creation nor does it deny the fact of a creator. The well ascertained facts of variation in animal and plant life under changed surroundings do not explain how they have the power thus to vary. Development is only a mode of operation. The author of all must be God.

Those who listened to the discussions were:

Rev. Wm. Walker, Milton.
Prof. Salsbury, Beloit.
Rev. Robert Chapin, Beloit.
Rev. E. P. Salmon, Beloit.
Miss Blaisdell, Beloit.
Miss Salmon, Beloit.
Miss M. K. Brown, Beloit.
Rev. R. Miller, Janesville.
Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Wilder.
Mrs. S. C. Little.
Mr. and Mrs. G. Veeder.
Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jackson.
Rev. E. Colten, Roscoe, Ill.
Rev. Samuel Eaton, D. D., Beloit.
Rev. Joseph Collie, D. D., Delavan.
Prof. and Mrs. Porter, Beloit.
Rev. H. P. Higley, D. D., Beloit.
Rev. Prof. A. W. Burr, Beloit.
Rev. and Mrs. Cyrus Hamlin, Beloit.
Rev. Henry Porter, M. D. Beloit.
Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Blaisdell, Beloit.
Attorney B. M. Malone and wife, Beloit.
Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Denney, Clinton, Iowa.

The association, last night's meeting of which was the one hundred and seventeenth, is a literary and theological society, of about thirty members, and meets five times each year.

EMERALD GROVE.

—Notwithstanding the threatning weather a fair sized and an appreciative audience assembled to listen to the memorial exercises. After appropriate selections rendered by the choir and prayer by C. W. Boynton. Mrs. Adiel Joiner gave a well delivered recitation, after which an address by Rev. Dunn; of Milton, followed: Mr. Dunn opened with a few well chosen remarks and then presented some interesting remarkes on causes of the late war. These were more more interesing, from he facts that they were taken from speeches made by him while speaking during war times in behalf of the republican party and the election of Abraham Lincoln. At the close of the services a procession having been formed, marched to the cemetery, where the following graves were decorated: Lieutenant D. D. Wemple, Nelson Butler, Elbridge Smith, Frank Thompson, Issac Earl, sen. and jr., Henry Jones, Captain A. B. Wemple, Alfred Warner, Geo. Playter, Joseph Luke, Adam Aris, Thos. Chamberlin.

—Mr. Russel Cheney and wife took the train Monday for Portage, Wis., where they will spend a short time visiting their son, Russel Lee, who is engaged in the ministry at that place.

—After the memorial exercises on Thursday last, an interesting game of ball was enjoyed between our boys and the Johnstown Center nine. At the close of the 9th innings the score stood 18 to 21 in favor of the home nine. Although the visitors showed themselves superior at fielding, Cheney's twisters proved too much for them. Mr. Martin Morse acted as umpire to the satisfaction of all.

—Our Beloit students were at home Decoration day and attended the exercises.

—On Friday afternoon and evening June 14 there will be an ice cream and strawberry festival at the residence of John Wetmore, three miles east of the Grove to which a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the church society. Ladies will please bring refreshments.

—The past ten days has been rather rough on corn, but we hope to soon have plenty of sunshine and warm weather.

—Mustard sardines for 10 cents at Gillies & Jones'.

—Mrs. Ann Jones in company with her daughter, Mrs. Eber VanAllen, left for Northville, Dakota, on Tuesday to visit their son and brother who is engaged in business at that place. Before returning they will visit relatives and friends near Doland.

—Perhaps some of our neighbors are not aware of the amount of wagon and carriage building that is done in this place. Hence we report the sales of Messrs. Heller, Gilson & Beesley for the month of May, viz: Two lumber wagons, two two-seated top carriages, three one-seated top carriages. These have all been turned out with material, finish and polish that will be an advertisement and credit to the above firm for years.
